2. Step 2 – Naïve Bayes on Rotten Tomatoes Data

2.1 Implementing Dictionary Cleaning and Evaluation Metrics

Before running Naïve Bayes, I cleaned the positive and negative word dictionaries by removing comment lines and empty entries. This ensured that only valid sentiment-bearing words were included in the sentiment dictionary, preventing noise from affecting later classification. After that, I implemented accuracy, precision, recall, and F1 score inside testBayes(), because the original script only produced raw predictions without any evaluation. These metrics were necessary to understand not only how often the model was correct, but also how it behaved differently across positive and negative classes.

2.2 Classification Results

Once the evaluation metrics were added, I applied Naïve Bayes to the Rotten Tomatoes test set. The classifier achieved balanced performance across both sentiment classes, with precision and recall remaining close in value. This indicated that the model did not strongly favor either positive or negative predictions. These metrics also formed an essential reference point for later comparison with the dictionary-based and improved rule-based systems, allowing me to see how statistical learning differs from rule-driven sentiment scoring.

2.3 Interpretation of Model Behavior

Naïve Bayes performed well when reviews contained clear sentiment cues, such as strongly positive or strongly negative words. However, the model struggled with more complex patterns, including mixed or ambiguous tones, subtle emotional expressions, and vocabulary that occurred rarely in the training data. These issues became more visible during the error analysis in Step 6, where misclassified sentences often contained irony, multiple sentiment shifts, or domain-specific language. These patterns highlight the inherent limitations of a unigram-based statistical model and motivate the later improvements made to the rule-based system.

3. Step 3 – Naïve Bayes on Nokia Reviews

3.1 Observed Performance Differences

After enabling the additional testBayes() calls, I noticed a sharp contrast between the two datasets. On the Rotten Tomatoes test set, Naïve Bayes produced stable and balanced results. However, when applied to the Nokia reviews, its accuracy dropped dramatically. Many sentences that were neutral or purely descriptive were incorrectly classified as either strongly positive or strongly negative. This contrast appeared even though I did not modify the classifier, showing that the model itself behaved inconsistently across datasets.

3.2 Why the Results Are So Different

The main reason for the difference is that Naïve Bayes relies entirely on the statistical patterns learned from its training text. It performs well only when the test data uses similar vocabulary and sentiment cues. In the Nokia reviews, many sentences contain terms that the model never encountered during training. As a result, the classifier tries to interpret unfamiliar words using patterns learned from movie reviews, which leads to incorrect predictions. In short, the results differ because the model is applying the wrong learned patterns to a new kind of text, not because the implementation is flawed.

4. Step 4 – What the Model Learns

4.1 Most Predictive Words

After fixing and running the mostUseful() function, the Naïve Bayes classifier generated two ranked lists of the 100 most predictive positive and negative words. These full lists are included in Appendix 8.1. The top-ranked items show that the model relied heavily on conventional sentiment-bearing adjectives. This suggests that the classifier successfully detected many intuitive linguistic markers of sentiment directly from the training data.

4.2 Evaluating Whether the Selected Words Are Good Sentiment Terms

Not all selected words were genuine sentiment indicators. Several highly ranked predictors were neutral domain-specific terms such as harvard, tv, rollerball, and product . These words show up frequently within negative movie reviews. While they do not actually express sentiment, Naïve Bayes identified them as predictive simply because they correlate strongly with classes in the training set.

4.3 Comparison with Dictionary Coverage and Interpretation

Among the top 100 positive predictive words, 48 are found in the sentiment dictionary, and 42 of the top 100 negative predictors also appear in it. However, the remaining words are not true sentiment terms but domain-specific or frequently occurring tokens in movie reviews. This indicates that Naïve Bayes learns correlations that reflect patterns in the training data, even when those words do not carry genuine emotional meaning.

5. Step 5 – Comparing Rule-Based and Statistical Methods

5.1 Comparison with Naïve Bayes

Across both datasets, Naïve Bayes consistently outperformed the dictionary-based system. On Rotten Tomatoes reviews, Naïve Bayes captured subtle statistical patterns—such as frequently co-occurring sentiment expressions—that the dictionary approach could not. The performance gap became even larger on Nokia reviews, where the dictionary system struggled with technical vocabulary that lacks explicit sentiment value. These results show that statistical models adapt better to domain-specific language, while rule-based systems depend heavily on the completeness and quality of their lexicons.

5.2 Improved Rule-Based System

To address the weaknesses of the baseline rule-based classifier, I introduced two types of linguistic rules designed to correct the most frequent sources of error.

(a) Negation Rules

Negators such as not, never, and no reverse the polarity of nearby sentiment words, yet the baseline classifier treated these cases incorrectly (e.g., not good was scored as positive). Because negation was the most common cause of misclassification, implementing polarity inversion for the following sentiment word significantly reduced errors.

(b) Diminisher Rules

Many errors came from expressions that convey weak or softened sentiment, such as slightly bad, a bit slow, or barely acceptable. Without special handling, the system assigned these sentences the same strength as strongly negative statements. By reducing the sentiment score when these diminishers occur, the classifier better reflected the intended emotional intensity and avoided exaggerated scoring.

(c) Justification and Effects Across Datasets

These improvements were designed to address structural issues rather than increase complexity. Negation and diminisher handling directly target linguistic patterns that carry substantial semantic weight. After applying them, the system performed better on both Rotten Tomatoes and Nokia reviews, especially in cases involving negation.

6. Step 6 – Error Analysis

6.1 Notes on Error Listing

The full list of misclassified sentences generated after enabling PRINT_ERRORS=1 is included in Appendix 8.2, as required. These examples reflect how both Naïve Bayes and the rule-based methods behave under the same evaluation conditions.

6.2 Explanation of Why the Models Make Mistakes

The errors produced by Naïve Bayes mainly arise because the model relies solely on word-level probabilities and cannot interpret semantic structure. Many misclassified sentences contained mixed or contradictory sentiment, sarcasm, or rare vocabulary not present in the training data. In addition, domain-specific terms in the Nokia reviews caused the model to fall back on incorrect likelihoods learned from movie reviews, producing systematic errors.

For the dictionary-based and improved rule-based systems, mistakes were caused by the inability to process linguistic structure beyond simple word matching. Negation and diminisher rules corrected many cases, but errors still appeared when punctuation, long clauses, or multi-word expressions interrupted the rule patterns. Technical words without inherent sentiment also misled the classifier because the rule-based system assigns polarity only through the lexicon. Overall, the mistakes reflect the limits of unigram-based statistical models and the rigidity of manually designed linguistic rules.

7. Conclusion

Through completing all six steps of this assignment, I learned that sentiment analysis depends on both statistical learning and linguistic rules. Naïve Bayes performs well when the training and test data come from the same domain, but its accuracy drops sharply when the vocabulary or writing style changes. Rule-based systems are easier to interpret, yet they cannot handle complex expressions such as negation, weakened sentiment, or multi-clause sentences. Even with improvements, they remain limited. Overall, this work shows that effective sentiment analysis usually requires combining statistical models with carefully designed linguistic rules.

ERROR (neg classed as pos 0.90):the film affords us intriguing glimpses of the insights gleaned from a lifetime of spiritual inquiry , but ram dass : fierce grace doesn't organize it with any particular insight .

ERROR (neg classed as pos 0.66):now here's a sadistic bike flick that would have made vittorio de sica proud .

ERROR (neg classed as pos 0.60):more dutiful than enchanting . . . terribly episodic and lacking the spark of imagination that might have made it an exhilarating treat .

ERROR (neg classed as pos 0.97):though moonlight mile is replete with acclaimed actors and actresses and tackles a subject that's potentially moving , the movie is too predictable and too self-conscious to reach a level of high drama .

ERROR (neg classed as pos 0.79):under 15 ? a giggle a minute . over age 15 ? big fat waste of time .

ERROR (neg classed as pos 0.75):sustains its dreamlike glide through a succession of cheesy coincidences and voluptuous cheap effects , not the least of which is rebecca romijn-stamos .

ERROR (neg classed as pos 0.91):scorsese at his best makes gangster films that are equally lovely but also relentlessly brutal and brutally intelligent ; perdition , meanwhile , reads more like driving miss daisy than goodfellas .

ERROR (neg classed as pos 0.89):the director knows how to apply textural gloss , but his portrait of sex-as-war is strictly sitcom .

ERROR (neg classed as pos 0.98):puportedly " based on true events , " a convolution of language that suggests it's impossible to claim that it is " based on a true story " with a straight face .

ERROR (neg classed as pos 0.53):the talented and clever robert rodriguez perhaps put a little too much heart into his first film and didn't reserve enough for his second .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): rodriguez has the chops of a smart-aleck film school brat and the imagination of a big kid . . .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): soderbergh skims the fat from the 1972 film . what's left is a rich stew of longing .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): hatfield and hicks make the oddest of couples , and in this sense the movie becomes a study of the gambles of the publishing world , offering a case study that exists apart from all the movie's political ramifications .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): the moral shrapnel and mental shellshock will linger long after this film has ended .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): stuart's poor-me persona needs a whole bunch of snowball's cynicism to cut through the sugar coating . but once the falcon arrives in the skies above manhattan , the adventure is on red alert .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): in its understanding , often funny way , it tells a story whose restatement is validated by the changing composition of the nation .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): the movie itself is far from disappointing , offering an original take on courtroom movies , a few nifty twists that are so crucial to the genre and another first-rate performance by top-billed star bruce willis .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): lacks the inspiration of the original and has a bloated plot that stretches the running time about 10 minutes past a child's interest and an adult's patience . but it also has many of the things that made the first one charming .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): birthday girl walks a tricky tightrope between being wickedly funny and just plain wicked .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): nair and writer laura cahill dare to build a movie around some flawed but rather unexceptional women , emerging with a fine character study that's short on plot but rich in the tiny revelations of real life .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): its almost too-spectacular coastal setting distracts slightly from an eccentric and good-naturedly aimless story .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): hardly a film that comes along every day .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): if divine secrets of the ya-ya sisterhood suffers from a ploddingly melodramatic structure , it comes to life in the performances .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): if you ignore the cliches and concentrate on city by the sea's interpersonal drama , it ain't half-bad .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): it treats ana's journey with honesty that is tragically rare in the depiction of young women in film .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): a modestly surprising movie .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): what doesn't this film have that an impressionable kid couldn't stand to hear ?

ERROR (positive classified as negative): the film has a kind of hard , cold effect .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): a psychic journey deep into the very fabric of iranian . . . life .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): the chateau belongs to rudd , whose portrait of a therapy-dependent flakeball spouting french malapropisms . . . is a nonstop hoot .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): it remains to be seen whether statham can move beyond the crime-land action genre , but then again , who says he has to ?

ERROR (positive classified as negative): at once subtle and visceral , the film never succumbs to the trap of the maudlin or tearful , offering instead with its unflinching gaze a measure of faith in the future .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): the leanest and meanest of solondz's misanthropic comedies .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): death to smoochy is often very funny , but what's even more remarkable is the integrity of devito's misanthropic vision .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): the graphic carnage and re-creation of war-torn croatia is uncomfortably timely , relevant , and sickeningly real .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): sparse but oddly compelling .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): a tasty slice of droll whimsy .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): niccol the filmmaker merges his collaborators' symbolic images with his words , insinuating , for example , that in hollywood , only god speaks to the press

ERROR (positive classified as negative): really is a pan-american movie , with moments of genuine insight into the urban heart .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): by surrounding us with hyper-artificiality , haynes makes us see familiar issues , like racism and homophobia , in a fresh way .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): not only does spider-man deliver , but i suspect it might deliver again and again .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): here's yet another cool crime movie that actually manages to bring something new into the mix .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): i'd watch these two together again in a new york minute .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): an often watchable , though goofy and lurid , blast of a costume drama set in the late 15th century .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): graham greene's novel of colonialism and empire is elevated by michael caine's performance as a weary journalist in a changing world .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): in the affable maid in manhattan , jennifer lopez's most aggressive and most sincere attempt to take movies by storm , the diva shrewdly surrounds herself with a company of strictly a-list players .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): it may be about drug dealers , kidnapping , and unsavory folks , but the tone and pacing are shockingly intimate .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): it is life affirming and heartbreaking , sweet without the decay factor , funny and sad .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): solondz creates some effective moments of discomfort for character and viewer alike .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): in an era where big stars and high production values are standard procedure , narc strikes a defiantly retro chord , and outpaces its contemporaries with daring and verve .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): a small movie with a big heart .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): as averse as i usually am to feel-good , follow-your-dream hollywood fantasies , this one got to me .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): an ebullient tunisian film about the startling transformation of a tradition-bound widow who is drawn into the exotic world of belly dancing .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): don't judge this one too soon - it's a dark , gritty story but it takes off in totally unexpected directions and keeps on going .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): if you've grown tired of going where no man has gone before , but several movies have - take heart . this is the best star trek movie in a long time .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): robinson's web of suspense matches the page-turning frenzy that clancy creates .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): washington overcomes the script's flaws and envelops the audience in his character's anguish , anger and frustration .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): veterans of the dating wars will smirk uneasily at the film's nightmare versions of everyday sex-in-the-city misadventures .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): schrader examines crane's decline with unblinking candor .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): apuestas fuertes para el futuro del director , y apuestas bien fundadas , pues la suerte ya la tiene , y la cinta lo comprueba . . . .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): shanghai ghetto , much stranger than any fiction , brings this unknown slice of history affectingly to life .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): often shocking but ultimately worthwhile exploration of motherhood and desperate mothers .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): disney aficionados will notice distinct parallels between this story and the 1971 musical " bedknobs and broomsticks , " which also dealt with british children rediscovering the power of fantasy during wartime .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): just watch bettany strut his stuff . you'll know a star when you see one .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): . . . digs beyond the usual portrayals of good kids and bad seeds to reveal a more ambivalent set of characters and motivations .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): while the frequent allusions to gurus and doshas will strike some westerners as verging on mumbo-jumbo . . . broad streaks of common sense emerge with unimpeachable clarity .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): it says a lot about a filmmaker when he can be wacky without clobbering the audience over the head and still maintain a sense of urgency and suspense .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): the hypnotic imagery and fragmentary tale explore the connections between place and personal identity .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): a seriocomic debut of extravagant promise by georgian-israeli director dover kosashvili .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): though the film is static , its writer-director's heart is in the right place , his plea for democracy and civic action laudable .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): precocious smarter-than-thou wayward teen struggles to rebel against his oppressive , right-wing , propriety-obsessed family . anyone else seen this before ?

ERROR (positive classified as negative): if you're the kind of parent who enjoys intentionally introducing your kids to films which will cause loads of irreparable damage that years and years of costly analysis could never fix , i have just one word for you - decasia

ERROR (positive classified as negative): neil burger here succeeded in . . . making the mystery of four decades back the springboard for a more immediate mystery in the present .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): both damning and damned compelling .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): fresnadillo has something serious to say about the ways in which extravagant chance can distort our perspective and throw us off the path of good sense .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): devotees of star trek ii : the wrath of khan will feel a nagging sense of deja vu , and the grandeur of the best next generation episodes is lacking .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): what's so striking about jolie's performance is that she never lets her character become a caricature -- not even with that radioactive hair .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): its use of the thriller form to examine the labyrinthine ways in which people's lives cross and change , buffeted by events seemingly out of their control , is intriguing , provocative stuff .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): a high-spirited buddy movie about the reunion of berlin anarchists who face arrest 15 years after their crime .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): dense , exhilarating documentary .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): [shyamalan] continues to cut a swathe through mainstream hollywood , while retaining an integrity and refusing to compromise his vision .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): shiner can certainly go the distance , but isn't world championship material

ERROR (positive classified as negative): as relationships shift , director robert j . siegel allows the characters to inhabit their world without cleaving to a narrative arc .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): oh , james ! your 20th outing shows off a lot of stamina and vitality , and get this , madonna's cameo doesn't suck !

ERROR (positive classified as negative): i'm not a fan of the phrase 'life affirming' because it usually means 'schmaltzy , ' but real women have curves truly is life affirming .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): a muddle splashed with bloody beauty as vivid as any scorsese has ever given us .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): a delicious and delicately funny look at the residents of a copenhagen neighborhood coping with the befuddling complications life tosses at them .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): an energizing , intoxicating documentary charting the rise of hip-hop culture in general and the art of scratching (or turntablism) in particular .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): if you open yourself up to mr . reggio's theory of this imagery as the movie's set . . . it can impart an almost visceral sense of dislocation and change .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): by turns very dark and very funny .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): this is a movie that refreshes the mind and spirit along with the body , so original is its content , look , and style .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): an older cad instructs a younger lad in zen and the art of getting laid in this prickly indie comedy of manners and misanthropy .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): at a time when commercialism has squeezed the life out of whatever idealism american moviemaking ever had , godfrey reggio's career shines like a lonely beacon .

ERROR (positive classified as negative): provides a porthole into that noble , trembling incoherence that defines us all .

ERROR (positive classified as negative):

ERROR (negative classified as positive): interesting , but not compelling .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): this 100-minute movie only has about 25 minutes of decent material .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): somewhere in the middle , the film compels , as demme experiments he harvests a few movie moment gems , but the field of roughage dominates .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): isn't as sharp as the original . . . despite some visual virtues , 'blade ii' just doesn't cut it .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): j . lo will earn her share of the holiday box office pie , although this movie makes one thing perfectly clear : she's a pretty woman , but she's no working girl .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): though this saga would be terrific to read about , it is dicey screen material that only a genius should touch .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): it gets bogged down by hit-and-miss topical humour before getting to the truly good stuff .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the film favors the scientific over the spectacular (visually speaking) .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): as is often the case with ambitious , eager first-time filmmakers , mr . murray , a prolific director of music videos , stuffs his debut with more plot than it can comfortably hold .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): it won't harm anyone , but neither can i think of a very good reason to rush right out and see it . after all , it'll probably be in video stores by christmas , and it might just be better suited to a night in the living room than a night at the movies .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): resembles a soft porn brian de palma pastiche .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): let's issue a moratorium , effective immediately , on treacly films about inspirational prep-school professors and the children they so heartwarmingly motivate .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): kids who are into this thornberry stuff will probably be in wedgie heaven . anyone else who may , for whatever reason , be thinking about going to see this movie is hereby given fair warning .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a mechanical action-comedy whose seeming purpose is to market the charismatic jackie chan to even younger audiences .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): soderbergh seems capable only of delivering artfully lighted , earnest inquiries that lack the kind of genuine depth that would make them redeemable .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): . . . too sappy for its own good .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): in theory , a middle-aged romance pairing clayburgh and tambor sounds promising , but in practice it's something else altogether -- clownish and offensive and nothing at all like real life .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a film with a great premise but only a great premise .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): there are some fairly unsettling scenes , but they never succeed in really rattling the viewer .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a well-made but emotionally scattered film whose hero gives his heart only to the dog .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a well made indieflick in need of some trims and a more chemistry between its stars .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a film neither bitter nor sweet , neither romantic nor comedic , neither warm nor fuzzy .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): more of a career curio than a major work .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): director carl franklin , so crisp and economical in one false move , bogs down in genre cliches here .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): all very stylish and beautifully photographed , but far more trouble than it's worth , with fantasy mixing with reality and actors playing more than one role just to add to the confusion .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): plays like some corny television production from a bygone era

ERROR (negative classified as positive): so brisk is wang's pacing that none of the excellent cast are given air to breathe .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): in any case , i would recommend big bad love only to winger fans who have missed her since 1995's forget paris . but even then , i'd recommend waiting for dvd and just skipping straight to her scenes .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): has a customarily jovial air but a deficit of flim-flam inventiveness .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the film affords us intriguing glimpses of the insights gleaned from a lifetime of spiritual inquiry , but ram dass : fierce grace doesn't organize it with any particular insight .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the director , with his fake backdrops and stately pacing , never settles on a consistent tone .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): while the film is competent , it's also uninspired , lacking the real talent and wit to elevate it beyond its formula to the level of classic romantic comedy to which it aspires .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): were dylan thomas alive to witness first-time director ethan hawke's strained chelsea walls , he might have been tempted to change his landmark poem to , 'do not go gentle into that good theatre . '

ERROR (negative classified as positive): now here's a sadistic bike flick that would have made vittorio de sica proud .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): without non-stop techno or the existential overtones of a kieslowski morality tale , maelström is just another winter sleepers .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): even in this less-than-magic kingdom , reese rules .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): though moonlight mile is replete with acclaimed actors and actresses and tackles a subject that's potentially moving , the movie is too predictable and too self-conscious to reach a level of high drama .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): i can't recommend it . but it's surprisingly harmless .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): holden caulfield did it better .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): from the opening scenes , it's clear that all about the benjamins is a totally formulaic movie .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): while the resident evil games may have set new standards for thrills , suspense , and gore for video games , the movie really only succeeds in the third of these .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): vera's technical prowess ends up selling his film short ; he smoothes over hard truths even as he uncovers them .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): with the exception of some fleetingly amusing improvisations by cedric the entertainer as perry's boss , there isn't a redeeming moment here .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): visually rather stunning , but ultimately a handsome-looking bore , the true creativity would have been to hide treasure planet entirely and completely reimagine it .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): there seems to be no clear path as to where the story's going , or how long it's going to take to get there .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): it kinda works and qualifies as cool at times , but is just too lame to work or be cool at others .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the talented and clever robert rodriguez perhaps put a little too much heart into his first film and didn't reserve enough for his second .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): for all its technical virtuosity , the film is so mired in juvenile and near-xenophobic pedagogy that it's enough to make one pine for the day when godard can no longer handle the rigors of filmmaking .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): works hard to establish rounded characters , but then has nothing fresh or particularly interesting to say about them .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the messages of compassion and mercy are clearly , squarely and specifically expounded via computer animated old testament tale of jonah and the whale . determined to be fun , and bouncy , with energetic musicals , the humor didn't quite engage this adult .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): it offers little beyond the momentary joys of pretty and weightless intellectual entertainment .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): scooby dooby doo / and shaggy too / you both look and sound great . / but daphne , you're too buff / fred thinks he's tough / and velma - wow , you've lost weight !

ERROR (negative classified as positive): culkin exudes none of the charm or charisma that might keep a more general audience even vaguely interested in his bratty character .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): . . . (like) channel surfing between the discovery channel and a late-night made-for-cable action movie .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): it may be a prize winner , but teacher is a bomb .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): i would have preferred a transfer down the hall to mr . holland's class for the music , or to robin williams's lecture so i could listen to a teacher with humor , passion , and verve .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): yes , one enjoys seeing joan grow from awkward young woman to strong , determined monarch , but her love for the philandering philip only diminishes her stature .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the story is naturally poignant , but first-time screenwriter paul pender overloads it with sugary bits of business .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): when the first few villians are introduced as " spider " and " snake " you know you're in for a real winner , creativity at its peak .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): not every animated film from disney will become a classic , but forgive me if i've come to expect more from this studio than some 79-minute after-school " cartoon " .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): where last time jokes flowed out of cho's life story , which provided an engrossing dramatic through line , here the comedian hides behind obviously constructed routines .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a broadly played , lowbrow comedy in which the cast delivers mildly amusing performances and no farm animals were injured by any of the gags .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): an intermittently pleasing but mostly routine effort .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): what would jesus do if he was a film director ? he'd create a movie better than this .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the makers of divine secrets of the ya-ya sisterhood should offer a free ticket (second prize , of course , two free tickets) to anyone who can locate a genuinely honest moment in their movie .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a journey that's too random and inconclusive to be compelling , but which hoffman's brilliance almost makes worth taking .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a great idea becomes a not-great movie .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): feels like six different movies fighting each other for attention .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): this goofy gangster yarn never really elevates itself from being yet another earnestly generic crime-busting comic vehicle -- a well-intentioned remake that shows some spunk and promise but fails to register as anything distinctive or daring

ERROR (negative classified as positive): although trying to balance self-referential humor and a normal ol' slasher plot seemed like a decent endeavor , the result doesn't fully satisfy either the die-hard jason fans or those who can take a good joke .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): it doesn't quite work , but there's enough here to make us look forward to the russos' next offering .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): about as satisfying and predictable as the fare at your local drive through .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): too leisurely paced and visually drab for its own good , it succeeds in being only sporadically amusing .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): though avary has done his best to make something out of ellis' nothing novel , in the end , his rules is barely worth following .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): technically , the film is about as interesting as an insurance commercial .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the makers have forsaken the entertaining elements of the original and , instead , rehash old jokes and leave any life at the doorstep . i like frank the pug , though .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the episodic film makes valid points about the depersonalization of modern life . but the characters tend to be cliches whose lives are never fully explored .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): i wish i could say " thank god it's friday " , but the truth of the matter is i was glad when it was over .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): here's a self-congratulatory 3d imax rah-rah .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): 'how many more voyages can this limping but dearly-loved franchise survive ? '

ERROR (negative classified as positive): mr . wedge and mr . saldanha handle the mix of verbal jokes and slapstick well . their film falters , however , in its adherence to the disney philosophy of required poignancy , a salute that i'd hoped the movie would avoid .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): watching it is rather like an overlong visit from a large group of your relatives . as your relatives swap one mundane story after another , you begin to wonder if they are ever going to depart .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): i kept wishing i was watching a documentary about the wartime navajos and what they accomplished instead of all this specious hollywood hoo-ha .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the best way to hope for any chance of enjoying this film is by lowering your expectations . then lower them a bit more .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): pryor lite , with half the demons , half the daring , much less talent , many fewer laughs .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): this story of unrequited love doesn't sustain interest beyond the first half-hour .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a serious movie with serious ideas . but seriously , folks , it doesn't work .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the good thing -- the only good thing -- about extreme ops is that it's so inane that it gave me plenty of time to ponder my thanksgiving to-do list .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): kitschy , flashy , overlong soap opera .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): while some of the camera work is interesting , the film's mid-to-low budget is betrayed by the surprisingly shoddy makeup work .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): seagal , who looks more like danny aiello these days , mumbles his way through the movie .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): think the lion king redone for horses , with fewer deliberate laughs , more inadvertent ones and stunningly trite songs by bryan adams , the world's most generic rock star .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): . . . no charm , no laughs , no fun , no reason to watch .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a puzzle whose pieces do not fit . some are fascinating and others are not , and in the end , it is almost a good movie .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): definitely in the guilty pleasure b-movie category , reign of fire is so incredibly inane that it is laughingly enjoyable .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): thriller directorial debut for traffic scribe gaghan has all the right parts , but the pieces don't quite fit together .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): directors harry gantz and joe gantz have chosen a fascinating subject matter , but the couples exposing themselves aren't all that interesting .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): for those for whom the name woody allen was once a guarantee of something fresh , sometimes funny , and usually genuinely worthwhile , hollywood ending is a depressing experience

ERROR (negative classified as positive): strong filmmaking requires a clear sense of purpose , and in that oh-so-important category , the four feathers comes up short .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): your taste for jonah - a veggie tales movie may well depend on your threshold for pop manifestations of the holy spirit .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a tedious parable about honesty and good sportsmanship .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): less a heartfelt appeal for the handicapped than a nice belgian waffle .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): never having seen the first two films in the series , i can't compare friday after next to them , but nothing would change the fact that what we have here is a load of clams left in the broiling sun for a good three days .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): so aggressively cheery that pollyana would reach for a barf bag .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the film is so packed with subplots involving the various silbersteins that it feels more like the pilot episode of a tv series than a feature film .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): only two-fifths of a satisfying movie experience .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the master of disguise may have made a great saturday night live sketch , but a great movie it is not .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): eddie murphy and owen wilson have a cute partnership in i spy , but the movie around them is so often nearly nothing that their charm doesn't do a load of good .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): there is nothing redeeming about this movie .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a film that will be best appreciated by those willing to endure its extremely languorous rhythms , waiting for happiness is ultimately thoughtful without having much dramatic impact .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a nearly 21/2 hours , the film is way too indulgent .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): it looks much more like a cartoon in the end than the simpsons ever has .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a fan film that for the uninitiated plays better on video with the sound turned down .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): unless you come in to the film with a skateboard under your arm , you're going to feel like you weren't invited to the party .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): if you're not fans of the adventues of steve and terri , you should avoid this like the dreaded king brown snake . personally , i'd rather watch them on the animal planet .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): no matter how you slice it , mark wahlberg and thandie newton are not hepburn and grant , two cinematic icons with chemistry galore .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): humorless , self-conscious art drivel , made without a glimmer of intelligence or invention .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): even murphy's expert comic timing and famed charisma can't rescue this effort .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): it's a barely tolerable slog over well-trod ground .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): it's sweet . . . but just a little bit too precious at the start and a little too familiar at the end .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): richard pryor mined his personal horrors and came up with a treasure chest of material , but lawrence gives us mostly fool's gold .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): it's mildly sentimental , unabashedly consumerist . . . studiously inoffensive and completely disposable .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): far more enjoyable than its predecessor .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): attal's hang-ups surrounding infidelity are so old-fashioned and , dare i say , outdated , it's a wonder that he couldn't have brought something fresher to the proceedings simply by accident .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): if routine action and jokes like this are your cup of tea , then pay your $8 and get ready for the big shear . this is one baaaaaaaaad movie .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): tv skit-com material fervently deposited on the big screen .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): despite some comic sparks , welcome to collinwood never catches fire .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): spreads itself too thin , leaving these actors , as well as the members of the commune , short of profound characterizations

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a singularly off-putting romantic comedy .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): like mike is a slight and uninventive movie : like the exalted michael jordan referred to in the title , many can aspire but none can equal .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): 'in this poor remake of such a well loved classic , parker exposes the limitations of his skill and the basic flaws in his vision . '

ERROR (negative classified as positive): a pint-sized 'goodfellas' designed to appeal to the younger set , it's not a very good movie in any objective sense , but it does mostly hold one's interest .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): it's definitely not made for kids or their parents , for that matter , and i think even fans of sandler's comic taste may find it uninteresting .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): while there's likely very little crossover appeal to those without much interest in the elizabethans (as well as rank frustration from those in the know about rubbo's dumbed-down tactics) , much ado about something is an amicable endeavor .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): it just goes to show , an intelligent person isn't necessarily an admirable storyteller .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): it reduces the complexities to bromides and slogans and it gets so preachy-keen and so tub-thumpingly loud it makes you feel like a chump just for sitting through it .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): i walked away not really know who " they " were , what " they " looked like . why " they " were here and what " they " wanted and quite honestly , i didn't care .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the movie is genial but never inspired , and little about it will stay with you .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): this latest installment of the horror film franchise that is apparently as invulnerable as its trademark villain has arrived for an incongruous summer playoff , demonstrating yet again that the era of the intelligent , well-made b movie is long gone .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the film never gets over its own investment in conventional arrangements , in terms of love , age , gender , race , and class .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): has not so much been written as assembled , frankenstein-like , out of other , marginally better shoot-em-ups .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): you can tell almost immediately that welcome to collinwood isn't going to jell .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): report card : doesn't live up to the exalted tagline - there's definite room for improvement . doesn't deserve a passing grade (even on a curve) .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): an enigmatic film that's too clever for its own good , it's a conundrum not worth solving .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the big finish is a bit like getting all excited about a chocolate eclair and then biting into it and finding the filling missing .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): diaz , applegate , blair and posey are suitably kooky which should appeal to women and they strip down often enough to keep men alert , if not amused .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): if a few good men told us that we " can't handle the truth " than high crimes poetically states at one point in this movie that we " don't care about the truth . "

ERROR (negative classified as positive): though it was made with careful attention to detail and is well-acted by james spader and maggie gyllenhaal , i felt disrespected .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): hey arnold ! is now stretched to barely feature length , with a little more attention paid to the animation . still , the updated dickensian sensibility of writer craig bartlett's story is appealing .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): for this sort of thing to work , we need agile performers , but the proficient , dull sorvino has no light touch , and rodan is out of his league .

ERROR (negative classified as positive): the thing looks like a made-for-home-video quickie .
